

Nowhere to Hide

Trampled By Turtles

I'm just a poor boy I don't know how
I end up with a girl like you
Well there's a fire on the highway and it's dark in town
Just like old songs I knew

There's a home in the valley, there's a home for me
Somewhere across the great divide
All of your words give me time to run
But there's nowhere to hide

Well you're a sweet loving woman in a dirty town
That emptied out my soul
It's a tear dropping memory of a holy man
Whose got nowhere to go

There's a home in the valley, there's a home for me
Somewhere across the great divide
All of your words give me time to run
But there's nowhere to hide

I guess I'll walk on forever, never settle down
'Cause there's no time for me
Yeah your words of redemption just slow me down
In my attempt to see
