Taking It All Back

Count The Stars

So how could I go on, and where did we go wrong, can someone give me answers maybe, the way you looked in that dress, so obviously selfish, can you just wake me in the end, 'cause I am Taking it all back, thats every word that I said, for every word that you could never get the nerve to say, taking it all back, thats every promise I made, for every promise you could never get the nerve to sayand tell me when you leave, so I can finally breathe, though suffocating isn't so bad, blood stains all over your bed, like finger nails down my back, can you just wake me in the end, 'cause i amTaking it all back, thats every word that I said,
for every word that you could never get the nerve to say,
taking it all back, thats every promise i made,
for every promise you could never get the nerve to saythis world can swallow you whole, but I will never be taken alive 9

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/