Smalltown

Chumbawamba

And every morning comes too soon
All your nights are sleepless
Poison arrows

To ruin your tomorrowsBelow suspicion Cafes full of people dressed as spies

And all I know

Is guilt for being differentIt's always raining stones

There's a killer in my home

In a small town

Everybody looks the same

There are unwritten rules

Unspoken words

Should I pack my fear and go?I have to leave somehow Before they run me out of town

I have to leave somehowAnd every morning comes too soon

All your nights are sleepless

Poison arrows

To ruin your tomorrows

There are unwritten rules

Unspoken words

Should I pack my fear and go?I have to leave somehow

Before they run me out of town

I have to leave somehow I have to leave somehow

Before they run me out of town

I have to leave somehow I have to leave somehow

Before they run me out of town

I have to leave somehow have to leave somehow

Before they run me out of town

I have to leave somehow{Please sir I want some more}
