Lagoon (Baba)

Artemis

grandmother gets dressed up like a wolf she says the only religion to be true is the smell of the sea and the sound of the wind when you take a deep breath and let the whole world rush on in

you build them up and you break them down with all those bright ideas you could build a bustling town or you could cool your mind from building empires in the sky just take a deep breath and let the whole world rush on by

baba baba
itâ€™s a wide open sky

spiraling down like an ammonite made of tides and twilight crushed like a shell beneath your step born again from your lips

she says the thing that always brings me back to you
is the smell of the sea and the sound of the wind when i take a deep breath and let the whole world rush on in

baba baba
itâ€™s a wide open sky
