* Oh, excuse me I got in the way.

* He parked and it broke down an-

* Yeah.

* You said it man.

* Whoo, better not fall in. Hey, right, come on - * Bob, let's see how wonderful you look under th-

What am I supposed to do now? I find my way in the dark, without you somehow,

If only there was something to say, and let me get away,

Now that you're mine, you keep you in mind,

And bold love can help you, and no one can protect you,

It feels like you're on your own this time,

This dream keeps moving about you,

You smile when I want to,

The force keeps stacking up.

- Jibberish derived from verses -

I never wanted to see you girl,

You were the one with the final word,

And of course I long to see your face when I get home,

The force keeps stacking up.

Words are wrong, am I alone?

The force keeps stacking up.

At the time I didn't mind, but now,

The force keeps stacking up.

I never wanted to see you girl,

You were the one with the final word,

And of course I long to see your face when I get home,

The force keeps stacking up.

- Jibberish derived from verses -

I never wanted to see you girl,

You were the one with the final word,

And of course I long to see your face when I get home,

The force keeps stacking up.

* Mom?
* Good lunch.
* Good lunch.
* Bye.
* Seeya boys!
* Ah, forget you.ĩ»¿
