

Doubt Full

New Found Glory

This letter explains everything
The content, it is the truth
Each word could cut like daggers
If I decide to finally give it to you
I've rewrote and rechecked a thousand times
Licked it shut and said my goodbyes
The lines are perfectly written
To break wide open this conclusion
And it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like you won't work out
I'm the one, one full of doubt
I know that time won't change a thing
If we're all moving in slow motion
It's hard to catch up
When the world is weighing you down
And it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like you won't work out
I'm the one, yeah
And it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like you won't work out
I'm the one, one full of doubt
I'm confused, don't know what I should do now
You, you could lose everything close to you
Tell me, how does this feel?
Well it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like you won't work out
I'm the one, yeah
And it feels like I've already been there
It sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like you won't work out
I'm the one, the one full of doubt

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>