

Orphan Train

Aidan Bartley

Come all you broken hearted
Come and lay your burden down
    Come Kings and Queens
Come royalty, surrender up your crown
    Come empty handed
Come with nothing of your own to claim
    Come naked, poor
Come like a child to ride the orphan train
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        Put your ear to the track
        You can hear your name
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        It'll take you all the way home
        The way is narrow
    It is steep, that brings you to the door
        But love awaits
There to embrace your heart forever more
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        Put your ear to the track
        You can hear your name
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        It'll take you all the way home
        Come you abandoned
    You forsaken friendless and alone
    Come refugees left homesick for
    Some place you've never known
        Here Princes, paupers
    Criminals and saints are all the same
        No more or less
Than God's beloved child aboard this train
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        Put your ear to the track
        You can hear your name
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train
        It'll take you all the way home
        Ride, ride on the orphan train
        Put your ear to the track
        You can hear your name
    Come ride, ride on the orphan train

It'll take you all the way home
It'll take you all the way home
It's gonna take you all the way home
