Lady Bones

Magneta Lane

When I learned to know
That other feeling I could know
I turned around and let him go.
And how it made me work
Lady Bones oh how they hurt,
But for the real things I will burn.Here I go again
Trying to defend all the things I love
I'll learn to let it go.
And darling, I have tried
Since all their lies were mine
But if you walk beside me
You'll know that there they lie.
You'll know that there they lie.A man has lost it, Bones.
I can see his honest good
I close my eyes I knew I would Reached out for his wrung hands
Could they catch me if I fall?
I'd catch him right back after all.But here I go again
Trying to defend all the things I love
I've learned to let you go.
And darling, I have tried
Since all the lies were mine
But if you walk beside me
You'll know that there they lie.
You'll know that there they lie.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/