

A Chemical High

Chris Ousey

Steel wheels turning to the end of the line
Feel my heart pumping, working overtime
An image held strong centered in my mind
Terrifying feeling I'll get left behind

Any help welcome in a vacuum state
The human heart is fickle turning love to hate
Feeling like I'm falling in the darkest void
Every passing moment leaves me paranoid

Didn't see a cloud
But you came falling down like rain
Used to know the song but
Somehow all the words have changed

You're better than a chemical high
Make me feel like I could touch the sky
Every moment I give thanks to who you are

You're better than a chemical high
Never need to stop to wonder why
I'm gonna hold this moment till the day I die

Another mile eaten in a breathless race
I just won't recover till I see your face
Swaying to the rhythm running down the track
I don't wanna crash into a heart attack

Better late than never just won't make the grade
Counting off the minutes cause my mind is made
Born a true survivor but I'm losing ground
Relegating reason to the lost and found

Didn't see a cloud
But you came falling down like rain
Used to know the song but
Somehow all the words have changed

You're better than a chemical high
Make me feel like I could touch the sky

Every moment I give thanks to who you are

You're better than a chemical high
Never need to stop to wonder why
I'm gonna hold this moment till the day I die

You can't imagine how this makes me feel
I wanna tell you baby, everything has changed

I got a vision burned into my mind
For the first time I know what I wanna find

Solo

You're better than a chemical high
Make me feel like I could touch the sky
Every moment I give thanks to who you are

You're better than a chemical high
Never need to stop to wonder why
I'm gonna hold this moment till the day I die

Didn't see a cloud
But you came falling down like rain
Used to know the song but
Somehow all the words have changed

You're better than a chemical high
Make me feel like I could touch the sky
Every moment I give thanks to who you are

You're better than a chemical high
Never need to stop to wonder why
I'm gonna hold this moment till the day I die
