Goodbye

Oleander

Anything that you want, anything that you need
Anything that you haven't gotten yet, you want from meEverything that you are and everything that you thought you wanted
Everything that you're not supposed to want you want from meYou don't need to understand, just give in to the band
When it's slipping through my handsAnd it's more than I can take, it's just about to break
All these feelings that we fake, goodbyeEveryone that you know, everywhere that you go you see them
Every feeling inside you try to hide begins to showYou don't need to understand, just give in to the band
When it's slipping through my handsAnd it's more than I can take, it's just about to break
All these feelings that we fake
On this roller coaster ride, it's going to collide
With those secrets that we hide, goodbyeAnd it's more than I can take, it's just about to break
All these feelings that we fake
On this roller coaster ride, it's going to collide
With those secrets that we hide, hide, goodbye
