Birthday Song

Don Mclean

If I could say the things I feel, it wouldn't be the same
Some things are not spoken of, some things have no name
Though the words come hard to me, I'll say them just for you
For this is something rare for me, this feeling is so new
You see, I love the way you love me
I love the way you smile at me
I love the way we live this life we're in Long ago, I heard the song that lovers sing to me
And through the days, with each new phrase, I hummed that melody
And all along, I loved the song but I never learned it through
But since the day you came along, I've saved it just for you
I don't believe in magic but I do believe in you
And when you say you believe in me
There's so much magic I can do
Now you see me, now you don't, watch me dive below
Deep down in your love lake, where the sweet fish come and go
And I might sink and I might drown but death don't mean a thing
'Cause life continues, right or wrong, when I play
This birthday song I learned from you and you can't even sing
