

Here's To The Heartache

Nothing More

What if I told you life was built to break?
What if I warned you, you can't outrun your fate? Would you believe with time comes grace?
In perfect light, in perfect place
Every dream was mine to lose
And that's what it took to lead me to you So here's to the heartache
Here's to the mistakes
We'll drink to all the years, the tears
That led to this place
So here's to the heartache What if I told you that everything fades away?
What if I hold you, but tell you there's just no escape? Would you believe with time comes grace?
In perfect light, in perfect place
Every dream was mine to lose
And that's what it took to lead me to you So here's to the heartache
Here's to the mistakes
We'll drink to all the years, the tears
That led to this place Here's to the dark days
It's been a long wait
We'll drink to all the years, the tears
That led to this place I'll suffer, I'll bleed
Lose everything
I'll get my wings
Fall from belief
Fall to my knees
And you will see With time comes grace
