

I'll Be Yours, You'll Be Mine

Alan Doyle

I ain't looking for trouble
But I know it's gonna find me
'Cause it's found me here before
You looking so lonely
Are you hungry for something
So it won't hurt no more Everybody needs something sometimes
Darling, we need something tonight
It's a harbour in the thunder
A line that we can cling to
Keep our heads from going under
We need a song that we can sing to feel alright
I'll be yours, you'll be mine
Before the lights get brighter
And we all run for cover
And our backs against the wall
For the nights a little lighter
With someone to lean on
Somebody to break your fall Everybody needs something sometimes
Darling, we need something tonight
It's a harbour in the thunder
A line that we can cling to
Keep our heads from going under
We need a song that we can sing to feel alright
I'll be yours, you'll be mine I'm lost and I'm looking for someone who might be
So lost and is looking for someone just like me
I ain't looking for trouble
But everybody needs something sometimes
Darling, we need something tonight
It's a harbour in the thunder
A line that we can cling to
Keep our heads from going under
We need a song that we can sing to
It's a harbour in the thunder
A line that we can cling to
Keep our heads from going under
We need a song that we can sing to feel alright
I'll be yours, you'll be mine

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>