

Will I Ever See You Again

Boyzone

We were on the right track baby Definitely maybe Running with a dream in our heart We could make a lifetime loving Something out of nothing I could make a living Missing holding you in my arms Taking you and giving you everything We can be a legend Take me up to heaven and tell me Tell me Will I ever hold you again Will I ever see you again Only want to be with you again Only ever wanted to be together Will I ever see you again Will I ever hold you again Only want to be with you again You're all I ever wanted Will I ever see you again I could make a living Girl, you really got me wishing I could feel your kissing Keeping me awake every night I would change a thousand seasons Just to find a reason To be there when you turn out the lights I could make a living Taking you and giving you everything We can be a legend Tell me Take me up to heaven and tell me Will I ever hold you again Will I ever see you again Only want to be with you again Only ever wanted to be together Will I ever see you again Will I ever hold you again Only want to be with you again You're all I ever wanted Will I ever see you again Such a beautiful face (face) Come on All I can do now is just pray That someday soon I'll hold your face Will I ever see you again Come on Will I ever hold you again Only want to be with you again Will I ever see you again Only ever wanted to be together Come on Will I ever hold you again You're all I ever wanted Only want to be with you again Will I ever see you again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>