

Miracles

Jocelyn Enriquez

I kindly knew,
something was true,
When you laughed out loud and covered your silly face.
You changed my world, and now things start to feel,
The stars shine and time was standing still and suddenly i start to cry knowing you're the reason why I feel.
You alone lifted my spirits.* You've always been the one to wipe my tears, you always say the things I need to hear,
w/ each glass that you give, I can see God's eye as He watches me through you..
I guess miracles come true Don't think that I, have ever thanked you, for your time is worth and persevering strength.
If not for you, who knows where I'll be, in my heart I know that you are my saving grace. and suddenly I wonder why, its only now I realize your gift, of loving me and i'm no other* You've always been the one to wipe my tears,
you always say the things I need to hear,
w/ each glass that you give, I can see God's eye
as He watches me through you..
I guess miracles come true We've had our ups and downs, We've always managed to turn things around, our love will go on.* You've always been the one to wipe my tears,
you always say the things I need to hear,
w/ each glass that you give, I can see God's eye
as He watches me through you..
I guess miracles come true With each glass that you give, I can see God's eye as He watches me through you..
I guess miracles come true..

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>