

The Ocean

Sunny Day Real Estate

All around, I see you're under my skin
Cruel to say, I've known the best of my life
Never again to hear the river's song so clear
Everyday's another scene
The world around and everything for you
An open door a cauldron of
Waves rush in through every house for all
So they say another lie, love's a rumor
But love will die, we're lost and wandering
Deep in the ocean there lies a wave for you
When you hit the ground, it's hard to speak
But its who you are a shining star
Go, tell the millions begin
We'll run through the fields
The turning of wheels, down with the buildings
Worlds on your shoulders climb through
The wasteland, wait for the sky to remind you
These things are true
Everyday's another scene
The world around and everything for you
An open door a cauldron of
Waves rush in through every house for all
So they say another lie, love's a rumor
But love will die, we're lost and wandering
Deep in the ocean there lies a wave for you
When you hit the ground, it's hard to speak
But its who you are a shining star
Go, tell the millions begin
We'll run through the fields
The turning of wheels, down with the buildings
Worlds on your shoulders, climb through
The wasteland, wait for the sky to remind you
These things are true about the day

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>