Lost And Found

Senses Fail

This island has become An ocean and my boat's too small The waves are crashing in And I can't save this sinking shipI sent out signal flares But no one out there seems to care Now the voice inside my head Is the only thing that I have leftThis is the part where I'll admit I'm getting what I deserveAnd now I'm lost at sea I'm drowning in what I won't be I'm haunted by the sound (Sweet sound of my last breath)Twenty days at sea My skin is blistered from the heat I can beg and I can plead What I get is never what I needThis is the part where I'll admit I'm getting what I deserveAnd now I'm lost at sea I'm drowning in what I won't be I'm haunted by the sound (Sweet sound of my last breath)And now I'm lost at sea I'm drowning in what I won't be I'm haunted by the sound (Sweet sound of my last breath)I'm going down, I'm going down I'm going down, I'm going downThis is the part where I'll admit I'm getting what I deserveAnd now I'm lost at sea I'm drowning in what I won't be I'm haunted by the sound (Sweet sound of my last breath)And now I'm lost at sea I'm drowning in what I won't be I'm haunted by the sound
