

Touch the One You Love

Michael Jackson

If I had a penny for every time
I didn't hold your hand
If I had a nickel for every time
I didn't understand I'd be the world poorest millionaire
'Cause you're not there
And no one ever told me
What you're willing to do If I had only reach out
I might still be touching you
You got to touch the one you love
If you want the one you love to touch you
(You've got, you've gotta to touch)
(You gotta touch the one who loves you) Would get embarrassed for every time
I've moved and make you cry
You get sentimental, and
I would never know the reason why I hold the world's highest record
For my selfish pride
Is it really over
When I get close to you I only want to show you
That I'm learning a thing or two
If you want the one you love
If you want the one you love to touch
You got to
