Who Needs The World

Nick Carter

I stare at your face, into your eyes
Outside there's so much passing us by
All of the sounds, all of the sights
Over the earth and under the sky
Too much cold and too much rain
Too much heartache to explain
Who needs the world when I've got you
Switched off the sun, the stars and the moon
I have all I need inside of this room
Who needs the world when I've got you
I walk on the street, talk in the dark
I see people's dreams just falling apart
I open my arms, tried to be true
Seems like my only truth is you
Am I wrong or am I right?
All I want is you tonight
Who needs the world when I've got you

Switched off the sun, the stars and the moon
I have all I need inside of this room
Who needs the world when I've got you
Who needs the stars so bright
And the grass so green and the morning light
Who needs the wind to blow and the tide to rise
Who needs it, I don't know, I don't know
Who needs the world when I've got you
Switched off the sun, the stars and the moon
I have all I need inside of this room
Who needs the world when I've got you
Who needs the world when I've got you
Switched off the sun, the stars and the moon
I have all I need inside of this room
Who needs the world when I've got you
Who needs the world when I've got you
