

One

Esperanza Spalding

I'm not lacking in love
Not haunted by its pain
Of romance, life's given me enough
I can't complain
But now in this quiet midnight mind
I faintly see The one so strong
It stops the world and my heart's spinning
One to prove what I've always known
But couldn't see when he crossed my sky From a star, fell out, shot across my mind
In the fiery pile of bodies floating along, ha
Gravity does burn inside me
I would orbit all who invite me
Oh, then again There could be one so strong
It stops the world and my heart's spinning
One to prove what I've always known
But couldn't see this modern mind Won't deny the times that it can't defy
When a prime old edge just calls me down to the shore, ha
Devolution burns inside me
I would dive in all who delight me
Oh, then again There could be one so strong
It stops the world and my heart's spinning
One to prove what I've always known
But couldn't meet The one so strong
It stops the world and my heart's spinning
One to prove what I've always known
But couldn't meet
