

When Darkness Reigns

Project 86

My failure is so evident, I cannot hide
The torment face first to the earth
Plagued by the earthly mindset, I cannot Escape my basement face first to the Earth hands around my neck, I'd might
As well bow in shame over matched, outwitted
Defeat is my only name I believe
Everything you tell me you've got me
Convinced I'm guilty, I'd better close my Eyes and sleep runaway 'cause tomorrow's
A better day but this is your hour
When darkness reigns when darkness
Reigns across the channels and mediums
I feel the loss face to face with the Possible death of dreams mental purity
Fades to the obscene hence the search
For another crutch another void fill
Another cane to serve as much and
We'll mourn for the death of the brother
Lost and we'll toast to the death of Another farce have I lost the battle but
Have I lost the war do I have what it
Takes to endure the setbacks, ignore
The scars you'd have me adopt that Suicide you'd have me succumb without Reply but you forgot the thousand
Deaths I've died you'd have me continue
This pace because you'd like me to join
Your race but that grave will be nothing
But an empty space arise from the Dead oh sleeper prepare for the battle
Cry 'cause this is the hour when truth
Divides it's done revive the sick the Surge of blood grab a torch and we'll
Light and burn ignite offensives to claim
The loss of sight wipe the sleep from
Your eyes release the fate of soul
Demise and it's for you to understand
The smoke will clear and fill the

Land and now the claims are made
Downcast eyes accompany shame the Chaos amassed against will direct to Find a home anew to face the depths
You've lost my enemy now taste
Defeat now taste your own saliva 'cause
You'll never quench the heat arise from
The dead and wake
