Back Again

16 Frames

When the fire's burned out in me
And the tears start drowning me
I'm with you right here from the start
It's where we'll fall apartWhen, what you do is still not good enough
You're feeling sick because you had too much
I'm with you right here from the start
It's where we'll fall apart, where we'll fall apartLookin' back again, sit on a track again
Soon enough we'll know
See what you left behind, taking his good advice
That you and I can't holdSo what you feel's not workin' out
And what you say isn't coming out
I'm with you right here from the start
Is where we'll fall apart, where we'll fall apartLookin' back again, sit on a track again
Soon enough we'll know
See what you left behind, taking his good advice
That you and I can't holdWell, now anyway
It really doesn't matter anymore
Well, now anyway
It really doesn't matter anymoreI'm with you right here from the start
Is where we'll fall apart, where we'll fall apartLookin' back again, sit on a track again
Soon enough we'll know
See what you left behind, taking his good advice
That you and I, you and ILookin' back again, sit on a track again
Soon enough we'll know
Take all the books you read, use them as evidence
That you and I can't hold
