

Tides

Makeshift Innocence

I wake up in the early morning with a smile upon my face cause I have been touched by love I have witnessed grace The way that the sun can shine down and gently light up the world makes me let my feelings out and my emotions just unfurl And I will hold you close and never let you go
and we can listen as the tides caress the shores And I will hold you close
and never let you go
until the tides roll in over our swollen hearts A feeling that I can't give up a feeling I won't give away its something I could live my life for each and every day Amazing how our hearts do pound deep inside our chests perhaps too much to contain but I know well do our best Oh Lord knows That I will hold you close
and never let you go
over our swollen hearts I've never know what I wanted only what I need and thats to be right here in a place where I feel free So now as the sun goes down and kisses the earth goodnight well wait for the moon to rise up and dance across the sky Oh Lord knows That I will hold you close
over our swollen

over our swollen hearts
