Open Wide the Flood Gates

Spock's Beard

Red forest green
As you stand at the waterfall
And there's no in between
You go back or you trust the fallAnd the man says that'll be forty-five
And the best of your mind's crying, "Take the dive"Open wide the flood gates
And let love take your soul
Open wide the flood gates
Till there's so much you overflowOut of the blue
And into uncertainty
And since you are a child
You just want some kind of securityBut the desert will always be hot and dry
Until the cool water comes rushing byOpen wide the flood gates
And let love fill your soul
Open wide the flood gates
Till there's so much you overflowOpen wide the flood gates
Sprinkle this soul around
Open wide the flood gatesYou spent your life running away
You run but you're not far awayOpen wide the flood gates
And let love take your soul
Open wide the flood gates
Till there's so much you overflowOpen wide the flood gates
Sprinkle this soul around
Open wide the flood gates
Let this love come down
Open wide the flood gatesOpen wide the flood gates
And let love move your soul
Open wide the flood gates
Till there's so much you overflowOpen wide the flood gates
Let it wash away the past
Open wide the flood gates
Man, you'll feel you're home at lastOpen wide the flood gates
Yeah-e-yeah
Yeah, yeah, yeah
