Every Moment

Joy Williams

We laughed out loud 'til we cried
And the tears were sweet
Midnight melted to morning
A moment faded to memory
All these days just slip away through our fingers, soDon't let go
Hold onto every moment
Always know
Hold on to every moment that you canWe move on with no regrets to our destiny
Held by the hands of the Father
We share His love and He leads us through
All these days
'Cause they slip away through our fingers, soDon't let go
Hold onto every moment
Always know
Hold on to every moment that you canRunning through yesterday into tomorrow
Don't let it just drift away
Forget about tying the hands of time
Give every minute to the One who's given todaySo don't you ever goDon't let go
Hold onto every moment
And always know
Hold on to every moment that you can
