Living Without You

Ben Rogers

Living Without You

is not that hard to do I just have to get drunk and I know I can make it through

And if it gets too easy Lord I just get stoned and I try not to be alone with any sharp objects so dull people won't say it`ll be alright
And living without you
gets easier all the time

I feel like going out doing something that I might regret but the bars are all closed and the candyman has gone to bed

I could count on you to let me down to let me down the way I like the end is just beginning and there's no end to it in sight and that's alright
'cause living without you

easier all the time
easier all the time
easier all the time
