

Blame It On the Stars

Andy Grammer

Sometimes you need a reason
A little love you can't believe in
A little hug, a little day dreaming
Apparently there's some correlation
Between hearts and outer space
All I'm really trying to say is That I'm just a Sagittarius and we're kind of spontaneous
So let's fly out to Vegas and find an Elvis to marry us Don't try to argue with the moon
We can blame it on the stars
Oh, come on let your heart just breathe
Stars, oh, come one let your guard down
And we can blame it on the stars We'd like to think that we're waiting
On a previous reservation
It's all written in the constellations
Now I don't know, but neither do you
Truth is, it's a good excuse
For both our hearts to let loose And I know that you're a Cancer
Which means you like holding hands
So show me how to do this dance
And spin me like a ceiling fan, oh Don't try to argue with the moon
We can blame it on the stars
Oh, come on let your heart just breathe
Stars, oh come one let your guard down
And we can blame it on the stars I read your horoscope
And baby you should know
Just what your future holds
Let your hips move
Let my fingers find you
Wrap my arms around you, here we go Stars, oh, come on let your heart just breathe
Stars, the stars, stars
We can blame it on the stars
Oh, come on let your heart just breathe
Stars, oh, come one let your guard down
And we can blame it on the stars We can blame it on the stars
We can blame it on the stars
