

Questions

Ian Thompson

They are right it is so who am I, I don't know there I was asking questions years on still the same a little more I know the game but here I am still asking questions about you about me why is you why is me what is wrong with how I feel what is right what is real clever man in control alone at night a lonely soul lies awake asking questions and man has reached the highest wall walked the moon seen it all but there he is still asking questions why are we here today gone tomorrow took away time is fast time is slow why is time I don't know I believe in creation I believe in salvation I believe in second chances and I believe there will be answers...to your questions with much achieved we're walking tall shouldn't we just know it all but here we are still asking questions a thousand years ahead of all what will be what's in store will we still be asking questions... yes we will be asking questions... always will be asking questions

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>