

The Autumn Leaves

The Roaring Forties

I woke under the cover of darkness
Looked up into the television sky
Tonight I wandered through the city alone
This rain wouldn't stop
I couldn't dry my eyes, I cried Who is the one to blame?
Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
If you're through with me? As I'm walking through the rain
Cold tears crawling down my face
Like the autumn leaves
On a windy day I went to the edge of town
Over by highways where the traffic
Was the only sound, around While my eyes are looking at the ground
I could see pictures of you
Floating all around, I didn't die Who is the one to blame?
Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
If you're through with me? As I'm walking through the rain
Cold tears crawling down my face
Like the autumn leaves
On a windy day Who is the one to blame?
Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
If you're through with me? As I'm walking through the rain
Cold tears crawling down my face
Like the autumn leaves
On a windy day Who is the one to blame?
Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
If you're through with me? As I'm walking through the rain
Cold tears crawling down my face
Like the autumn leaves
On a windy day Who is the one to blame?
Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
If you're through with me? As I'm walking through the rain
Cold tears crawling down my face
Like the autumn leaves
On a windy day Who is the one to blame?

Why is it that you never say
When the feeling leaves
