One AM

GUTA

As many times as i creep on through these familiar eyes but nameless faces.
I criticize appointed pointless,
you turn around and make it worthless.
If something has happened here,
while hanging round with you.
I hope this will persevere and wont just drown in blue.
so please wait up until one am.
I'm coming round and I'm knocking on your door.
and don't go there's some things that i want to know,
some thing that i might appreciate.

I worry what your thinking of me,
I make mistakes and yes I'm sorry.
There's not a sound in mind or fortress that helps a humble heart express this.
and why do i care so much?
its cause i care so much for you.
I hope i don't break this trust, you know my friends are found in few.

so please wait up until one am.
I'm coming round and I'm knocking on your door.
and don't go there's some things that i want to know,
some thing that i might appreciate.

It seems to me like your just washing your hands,
of every time that we had spent,
ways of live that we had planned.
cuts like a knife no matter who rolls the dice.
It's a clear and sunny day,
but my heart is in the rain.
It's a clear and sunny day,
but my heart is in the rain...

so please wait up until one am.
I'm coming round and I'm knocking on your door.
and don't go there's some things that i want to know,
some thing that i might appreciate.

so please wait up until one am.
I'm coming round and I'm knocking on your door.
and don't go there's some things that i want to know,
some thing that i might appreciate.

so please wait
don't go
so please wait
don't go
don't go

Lyrics submitted by Jacob Ryan Cook.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/