Barstool Mountain

Johnny Paycheck

I've finally found a place where I can take it all this loneliness you left behind.
On a mountain that's no hill for a climber.
Just one step up, sit back and pour the wine.

I climb up on barstool mountain.
High above your world where there's no pain.
And I'm the king of barstool mountain.
Pretending I don't love you once again.

At closing time I step down off the mountain.
I'm strong enough to make it without you.
I know that I'll be right back here tomorrow.

Too weak to sober up and face the truth

I climb up on barstool mountain.
High above your world where there's no pain.
And I'm the king of barstool mountain.
Pretending I don't love you once again.

I climb up on barstool mountain.
High above your world where there's no pain.
And I'm the king of barstool mountain.
Pretending I don't love you
Drinkin' away "I love you"
Pretending I don't love you once again.

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com
written by W. C. HEAD, D. TANKERSLEY
Lyrics Â© BIKE MUSIC OBO LOVOLAR MUSIC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/