

Think It Over

Sweet California

y commenta.

Wasn't it you who used to buy me roses? A promise so true we'd stand the test of time

But you didn't seem like the kind that would throw it all away

Now I just can't believe the stories you're telling me now

Are you for real? You can only push me so far

Hurry boy, the door is closing

I'll be gone

I'm tired of being broken hearted

You deny, but you're taking me for granted all the time
Need a minute just to think it over x2
Wasn't it I who tried to keep it all together?

Hard as I tried, It wasn't going anywhere

But I'm tryin' to get my head around, are you asking me to stay?

What are you fighting for?

Cuz I'm thinking you don't know me anymore
You can only push me so far

Hurry boy, the door is closing

I'll be gone

I'm tired of being broken hearted

You deny, but you're taking me for granted all the time
Need a minute just to think it over x2
Over... I never said it would be easy

Over... But I'm doing what's best for me
You can only push me so far

Hurry boy, the door is closing

I'll be gone

I'm tired of being broken hearted

You deny, but you're taking me for granted all the time
Need a minute just to think it over x2

Lyrics provided by

<https://damlyrics.com/>