

Bare Bones

Perseph1/AndAccelerator

I remember what my daddy taught me
'Bout how one risky is in a cold ditch
And one more thing about good and evil
 You can't tell which is which
 Well, if the rest is lost and history
 Or maybe wasted on a fool like me
 And that these bare bones
 Would leave me something after all
 Old Hamlet's done now, dead and gone
 And there's no ghost who walks
Poor [Incomprehensible] tells you everything he knows
 With no tongue to talk
It seems the truth is hidden where the sun don't shine
 And I'm never certain if it's their's or mine
 It's just the bare bones
 They give you that much after all
They preached the gospel down in [Incomprehensible]
 They preached it in school
 It never made much sense to me
 Wonder if it was supposed to
 You go on down a millionaires road
 Watch a while, tell me what do you see
 The truth itself, nothing but a gamble
 It might or might not set you free
 I guess, my old man was hard to read
 And I don't really know what I believed
 But in these bare bones
 There's something lovely after all
