

Miles to Go

Alison Krauss

It's feelin' longer now than it ever has before
Another memory is another slammin' door
It's gettin' too dark now to see Every photograph is another lesson learned
Every sleepless night is another page I've turned
I wake up to fallin' dreams And the petals start to fade by the picket fences
Just another shade of miles and miles to go If I had a chance, I must've missed it long ago
If I could run away, I wouldn't have to let you go
This angel's bound to stray Like an hourglass, I'm a soul to sinkin' sand
You try to hold my heart and I will slip right through your hands
Time just blows away And the petals start to fade by the picket fences
Just another shade of miles and miles to go
And the tears forever flow And the petals start to fade by the picket fences
Just another shade of miles and miles to go
And this angel's bound to stray
It's another shade of miles and miles to go

Songwriters

STAPLETON, CHRISTOPHER / BALES, BARRY Published by

Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>