

The Saddest Song No One Has Ever Heard

Grandpa's Cough Medicine

As we struggle through this life with no reward
I'm compelled to write a song to strike a cord
So much on my mind yet I just can't find the words
To the saddest song no one has ever heard

All the sorrow and the longing and the fear
Oh how I wish that I could make these disappear
My desperation grows cause I can't compose the words
To the saddest song no one has ever heard

So many people suffering in this world
So many hearts into the darkness hurl
I wanna be the light yet I just can't right the words
To the saddest song no one has ever heard

The emptiness and loss that people feel
That sometimes time will never heal
I'd take it all away but I can't convey in words
The saddest song on one has ever heard

The meaningless of it all astounds me
Everything we love will make us cry
The bleakness of reality surrounds me
We all just drift apart until we die

I wonder if we're doomed here on this stone
I wonder if we're really all alone
The hopelessness I feel I can't reveal in words
The saddest song no one has ever heard

I'd save us if I could though I ask what good are words
The saddest song no one has ever heard
The saddest song no one has ever heard
