Miss Blue

I Am the Icarus

does she know i love her?
what would she say?
when she sings it's over, brings me to my knees.
i could never say it to her face,
so let this song be my saving grace.so hide your wings behind you, end this endless gloom.
let the nightmare sleep and finally bring her peace.
hey, miss blue.when i see her face it makes me want to cry.
just the thought of her pale soft skin and those big blue eyes.
i know i shouldn't feel this way, but i don't know what i can do miss blue.so hide your wings behind you, end this endless gloom.
let the nightmare sleep and finally bring her peace.
hey, miss blue.life's a bummer. ain't that true?
won't you save me?
hey, miss blue.
i love you.i could never say it to her face.
so let this song be my saving grace.so hide your wings behind you, end this endless gloom.
let the nightmare sleep and finally bring her peace.
hey, miss blue.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/