Fireproof

Against The Current

I was better off the night before I met you
But I was mesmerized and high on every word you spoke
You were born to run but your poison tongue won't save you
Cause when you play with fire it all goes up in smoke

I hope your hands burn when you touch her
I won't be the cure for the scars you've earned
You lit the fuse that I burnt too
But you're playing with a heart that's fireproof!

Don't know whats behind those eyes but I can feel it
A kind of danger in the darkness, written on your soul
If the brightest dark can light the sky forever
How could you ever think you were invincible?

I hope your hands burn when you touch her
I won't be a cure for the scars you've earned
You lit the fuse that i burnt too
But you're playing with a heart that's fireproof

I watch your flames rise
Destroy you alibis
I should have warned you
You're playing with a heart that's fireproof

No more games can't escape, you will always be my worst mistake
Gasoline on your grave, going down in flames, going down in flames
No more games can't escape, you will always be my worst mistake
Gasoline on your grave, going down in flames!

I hope your hands burn when you touch her
I won't be a cure for the scars you've earned
You lit the fuse that I burnt too
But you're playing with a heart that's fireproof

I watch your flames rise
Destroy you alibis
I should have warned you
You're playing with a heart that's fireproof
