

This One's From The Heart

Tom Waits & Crystal Gayle

Tom:

I should go out and honk the horn, it's Independence Day

But instead I just pour myself a drink

It's got to be love, I've never felt this way

Oh baby, this one's from the heartCrystal:

The shadows on the wall look like a railroad track

I wonder if he's ever comin' back

The moon's a yellow stain across the sky

Oh baby, this one's from the heartTom:

Maybe I'll go down to the corner and get a racin' form

But I should prob'ly wait here by the phone

And the brakes need adjustment on the convertible

Oh baby, this one's from the heartCrystal:

The worm is climbin' the avocado tree

Rubbin' its back against the wall

I pour myself a double sympathy

Oh baby, this one's from the heartTom:

Blondes, brunettes, and redheads put their hammer down

To pound a cold chisel through my heart.

But they were nothin' but apostrophes

Oh baby, this one's from the heartCrystal:

I can't tell, is that a siren or a saxophone?

But the roads get so slippery when it rains

I love you more than all these words can ever say

Oh baby, this one's from the heart
