

After the Great Fire

All Hail the Yeti

Pure evil inside asbestos walls
This great fire raged one hundred feet tall
Taking forty children cradled in its flames
And two dozen women who were said to be blamed
There was a surgical stench in the air
It reeked of flesh and burning hair
You hear the cries behind every door
With screams of pain and festered sores
Save us when darkness comes
Help us from the evil ones
I hear the spirits come
After the great fire
When the children call
After the great fire
Now their spirits burn
A terror looms like thick black smoke
It haunted them when nighttime woke Dead children bloom in the month of hate
It's all the same when you're insane
Help us from the evil ones
Save us when darkness comes
I hear the spirits come
After the great fire
When the children call
After the great fire
Inside the smoke they're born
After the great fire
When the children burn
I hear the spirits come
After the great fire
When the children call
After the great fire
Inside the smoke they're born
After the great fire
When the children burn
After the great fire
After the great fire
After the great fire
I am the Devil!
I am the smoke!
After the great fire
I am the Devil!
I am the ghost!
After the great fire

I am the Devil!
I am the smoke!
After the great fire
I am the Devil!
I am the ghost! I am the Devil!
I am the smoke!
I am the Devil!
I am the ghost!
Envoke me!
Set me free!
