The Chance

Deadeye Dick

We're living in a constant fight Too much pressure everywhere and all around Don't let it put you down Hold on tight, cling to your dreams Don't you depend on someone else Think for yourself and win the race The chance you got comes never twice Do your best and do it right Time will come but don't you hide You are on your way You're led by God but you're not a pawn Should live your life, don't care 'bout any scorn Just let them fool around, no need to cry Don't give up Try to be as smart as you can be I know you own so much ability The chance you got comes never twice Do your best and do it right Time will come but don't you hide You are on your way The chance you got comes never twice Do your best and do it right The time will come but don't you hide You are on your way The chance you got comes never twice Do your best and do it right Time will come but don't you hide You are on your way
