

All Of My Life

The Carpenters

All of my life I have been waiting
For just one boy
And all of my life I have been waiting
For all the joy
Of having, someone that I can call my own
Who'll come to my side when I am all alone
And now you are here and I've found
A whole new world has opened for me
A world filled with joy, a world filled with all your love, eternally
For you say, you're mine
You'll love me all the time, night and day
Come what may, and all of my life, you'll be my own

I just want, someone that I can call my own
Who'll come to my side when I am all alone
And now, you are here and I've found
A whole new world has opened for me
A world filled with joy, a world filled with all your love, eternally
For you say, you're mine
And you'll love me all the time, night and day
Come what may, and all of my life, you'll be my own
You'll be my own, you'll be my own
