Here and Now

Chris Burke

Send somebody, somebody soon
I'm feeling tired, all torn up and nobody knew
I'm thinking someone needs to pray
Forgive me for the wrong I've done, but no one here is safe now
So far down, can you tell me if I'm counted out?
You know that now, you know
That in the end there's nothing left but here and now
You know that now, I'm here and now
Waking up to nobody home
I'm feeling tired, sickened from my constant disease
Will someone have the guts to say?
I'll never right the wrong I've done if all you do is blame me anyway
So far down, can you tell me if I'm counted out?
You know that now, you know
That in the end, there's nothing left but here and now
You know that now, I'm here and now
Send somebody, somebody soon
I'm feeling tired, all torn up and nobody knew
Are you?
So far down, can you tell me if I'm counted out?
You know that now, you know
In the end, there's nothing left but here and now
You know that now, I'm here and now
Here and now, here and now, here and now
I'm here and now, I'm here and now
