

Starting to Remember

Duran Duran

How to begin? Do I shed a skin?
Now that I am starting to remember
It takes a while
But you find a way to open up the doorLet demons walk
Now that I am starting to remember
Can't change my worldI was happy ever after
Was it only yesterday
I bought the dream?
But I don't sleep no moreCounting the hours 'til the dawn
Now that I am starting to remember
How to love, how to learn?Draw like a child
Run for miles and miles
Now that I am starting to remember
Who I amAnother lonely night ahead for me now
Buried in the darkening day
That lingers on and drags me down
But you've got to believe, time will heal
