Pomp And Circumstances

Smashing Pumpkins

When I was born, I lost When I was freed, I fought Now that I?m loved, I?m caught Between the last and this tragic mess An invited guest Torn, broken and frayed Oh, don?t we face War, sunshine and grace Oh, won?t you stay for a while? We can fail in style I can hold your smile for a while What was once new now gone What was once praised now wrong As they go, we can say we know But what do we know

But warm sunshine and graves Don't we see what's bitter to taste Torn, broken and frayed Don't we face War, sunshine and graves Won't you stay? 'Cause I won't tell I won't tell a soul That I'm mad as hell Torn, broken and frayed I'm torn, broken and frayed No, I'm cold, worn out and ashamed

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/