

Turn Your Back on Love

Crosby, Stills & Nash

Is this a prison
Or do you call it love?
You will know for certain someday
It'll never be tough enough When love is hidden
It is below above
And you know when you run away
You turn your back on love Lonely days and lonely nights
Will we ever get it right?
Don't be blinded by the light
Turn your back on love no, no You're dying to prove
That you are never wrong
You're so right, you'd rather be sad
But you won't go along You built a wall, didn't you?
'Round what you're thinking of
Never mind what anyone says
You turn your back on love Lonely days and lonely nights
Will we ever get it right?
Don't be blinded by the light
Turn, turn, turn, would you turn your back on love? Isn't it my life
Tell me what else it is?
You can do whatever you want
If you will take a risk When is it my love
How will you handle it to with?
There are two whenever we are
If you can hear the kiss If you believe it
Love is quite strong enough
Be together, honest and free
No turning back on love Lonely days and lonely nights
Will we ever get it right?
Don't be blinded by the light
Turn your back on love Turn your back, turn your back on love
Turn your back, turn your back on love
Turn your back, turn your back on love
Turn your back, turn your back on love
