

It Only Took A Minute

Mandy Moore

Don't tell me how I had a vision this day would come to be
Call it luck, call it intuition, yeah
Here I am, isn't that enough for a little bit of reality?
Fate is good, fate can be real, if you believe it's what you feel
Oh, what a moment when I looked into your eyes
I knew I got the prize, oh baby, what a sweet surprise
It only took a minute, baby to let you in my life
It only took a minute for me to realize
It only took a minute and I knew just what to do
It only took a minute to fall in love with you
Time and time again, boy I've always been
The only one to think things through
You got a hold of me, set me free
Who would've known that out of the blue
I discovered the magic of all my dreams that night
With just one look at you I knew that everything would be alright
It only took a minute, baby to let you in my life
It only took a minute for me to realize

It only took a minute and I knew just what to do
It only took a minute to fall in love with you
Here I am, isn't it a vision?
Here I am, isn't it a vision?
Oh, what a moment when I looked into your eyes
I knew I got the prize, oh baby, what a sweet surprise
It only took a minute, baby to let you in my life
It only took a minute for me to realize
It only took a minute and I knew just what to do
It only took a minute to fall
It only took a minute, baby to let you in my life
It only took a minute for me to realize
It only took a minute and I knew just what to do
It only took a minute to fall
It only took a minute, baby to let you in my life
It only took a minute for me to realize
It only took a minute and I knew just what to do
It only took a minute to fall in love with you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>