Color Of Your Eyes

Smash Into Pieces

Had we made another decision
Gone through our thoughts not lost our vision
Care for another life, not only seen our own
A new life could have grown
We never stopped to think
Never had time to feel
It should just disappearIf I said I never think about you, I would lie
It kills me to never know
Never know the color
The color of your eyes
Thoughts of who you would be
Would you look like your ma or me
A fathers proud only child
Kids coming back to me
In my black mindIf I said I never think about you, I would lie
It kills me to never know
Never know the color
The color of your eyesCan't find the reason why
No matter how I try
It is killing me
Can't find the reason why
No matter how I try
It is killing me
If I said I never think about you, I would
I would lie
If I said I never think about you, I would lie
It kills me to never know
Never know the color
The color of your eyesIf I said I never think about you, I would lie
It kills me to never know the color of your eyes
