

Fantasy Man

Alice Cooper

I don't drink tea
Or white chablis
I sit around and watch TV
Don't send flowers
Or take showers
But I'll be there to pull your weeds
Oh, yeah
I don't read books
I don't french cook
Or stroll around in galleries
I hate opera
I hate Operah
Don't fill my head with poetry You just want to squeeze my masculinity
Why can't you leave it alone?
Hey, hey I ain't gonna' change
Hey, hey don't you love me this way
Hey, hey I am what I am
So please understand
I'm not your fantasy man I don't do dishes
And I'm suspicious
Of any grown up man does
I'm homophobic
Don't do aerobics
Just lay around and catch a buzz You just want to squeeze my masculinity
Why can't you leave it alone? Hey, hey I ain't gonna' change
Hey, hey don't you love me this way
Hey, hey I am what I am
So please understand
I'm not your fantasy man
Say hey, hey, hey, hey You just want to squeeze my masculinity
Why can't you leave it alone? Hey, hey I ain't gonna' change
Hey, hey don't you love me this way
Hey, hey I am what I am
So please understand
I'm not your fantasy man
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>