

Hanging High

Lykke Li

Oh, thunder in my heart
These razors cutting sharp
And leaves me with an ever bleeding scar So soft, so suddenly
So that I cannot breathe
I'm drawn into a circle painted black Oh, I'm hanging high
Oh, won't you let me down?
Back where I started at
You know I'm a little lost And when it hurts the most
I'll push a little more
I'm back where I started at
You know I'm a little lost Like lightning in my heart
A kiss so burning hot
I'm hanging on a thread that's bound to drop Like rain on open skies
Don't know the reason why
But I'll always choose the black in front of white Oh, I'm hanging high
Oh, won't you let me down?
Back where I started at
You know I'm a little lost And when it hurts the most
I'll push a little more
I'm back where I started at
You know I'm a little lost Oh, I'm hanging high
Oh, won't you let me down?
Back where I started at When it hurts the most
I'll push a little more
I'm back where I started at
