

Lonely

Julian Lennon

When I wake up in the morning
With the sun above my head
I pull the blinds down slowly

The room seems almost dead
And I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
Yes, I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again

I get up quickly, like a flash of light
I put my clothes on, neat and right
I work all day, I work at night

When do I find out, what I'm doing right?
And I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
Yes, I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
The time has come when I need to change
I don't know what to do, I'm really restless

My nerves are breaking
The lying feeling's coming through
And I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
Yes, I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
And I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
Yes, I'm lonely, and I'm on my own again
